State and Federal employees that participated in the flaring workshops (bcc'ed on this note),

As discussed at the Flaring workshops held by the Houston Advanced Research Center, we promised to give folks the opportunity to review the report that the project team was developing before it was finalized.

Attached is the text to the report.

If you would like us to consider any edits from you, please return a redline by this Friday, August 9th.

A copy of the full draft, including the appendices, may be downloaded here.
